Drishya Poudel

Front-End Developer / ReactJs

I am a Front-End / React JS developer enthusiastic about web development. I have designed several user interface (UI) for personal as well as my college project. My passion is to work with extremely talented people and collaborate to make products that would make an immediate impact. Passionate about learning new technologies. I have always aspired to join a professional work environment for my personal growth, which reflects my decision for applying here.
